

Do I need Debt Settlement?

Most of the time, consumers with serious financial problems can get their best relief by filing a bankruptcy, either in Chapter 7 or Chapter 13. Sometimes, though, a bankruptcy just won't work. Other times, a bankruptcy would be so expensive that it doesn't make sense. In these situations, we represent clients to settle their debts.

For clients doing debt settlement, we take care of the bills. We communicate with the creditors and ensure that the creditors leave you alone. Typically, the client sends us a monthly payment, which covers everything – the costs, the attorney fees, and the settlement amounts. If there are lawsuits, we will go to court for you and defend and settle the suits.

When choosing an attorney for debt settlement, it is important to have someone local. Only a local attorney will go to court for you to protect your rights. We urge you to work with an attorney you can meet with in person.
